Gov. Hickenlooper calls special legislative session to fix pot tax error
Denver Post

Gov. John Hickenlooper on Thursday called lawmakers back to the Capitol to fix a bill-drafting error that has been costing Denver-based institutions hundreds of thousands of dollars a month in marijuana revenue.

The special session set to start Oct. 2 will be the first in five years for Hickenlooper and the General Assembly, an extraordinary step for a governor who typically has deferred to lawmakers on legislative matters during his two terms.

The Denver Channel

Colorado Lt. Gov. Donna Lynne has officially announced her campaign for governor in 2018.

Lynne made the announcement Thursday morning, September 7th, at the Spring Café in Denver.

Lynne filed her "Lynne for Colorado" campaign committee on Aug. 1, and officially filed her candidacy for the governorship on Aug. 11 as was required after filing her committee.

She had hinted at a 2018 run for months after saying in 2016 she wouldn't try to succeed current Governor John Hickenlooper.

State Rep. Pete Lee reveals bid for Mike Merrifield's Senate seat at Democratic forum in Colorado Springs
Colorado Politics

State Rep. Pete Lee, a term-limited Colorado Springs Democrat, announced Saturday night that he's running for the Senate District 11 seat held by state Sen. Mike Merrifield in next year's election.

Lee was among several candidates for Congress, the Colorado Legislature and statewide offices at a three-hour forum sponsored by the El Paso County Democratic Party and the Colorado College Democrats at the college's Armstrong Hall. Roughly 100 students and community members showed up to hear the candidates describe their platforms and answer questions.

Merrifield didn't respond to an email inquiry from Colorado Politics, but according to Lee, Merrifield does not plan to seek a second term.

Business groups will ask voters for transportation help on 2018 ballot
Denver Business Journal

A business-led coalition will mobilize its own effort to ask voters to increase tax revenue and allow bond sales for roads and transit in 2018.

Denver Metro Chamber of Commerce President/CEO Kelly Brough made the announcement Tuesday, months after the Chamber failed to get the Colorado Legislature to refer a transportation-funding measure to the statewide ballot.

While details haven’t been finalized on the exact structure of the question, Brough said after the chamber’s annual membership meeting that they likely will be similar to the failed House Bill 1242, which sought a roughly half-cent sales-tax hike over 20 years to put money toward major statewide highway expansions, alternatives like public transit and bike lanes and the needs of local communities.

That measure passed the Democrat-led Colorado House but died along party lines in a committee of the Republican-majority Senate.

CAHB announces departure of CEO Scott Smith

The Colorado Association of Home Builders announced today that Scott Smith, CEO of the statewide association, will be transitioning to the private sector to become the CEO of ProTerra, LLC, a real estate management and development firm located in Monument. Smith will remain as CEO of the CAHB until October 9, and the association is in the process to identify a new CEO.

“Scott has been dedicated to our association’s mission: Creating and maintaining a positive business environment for the Colorado housing industry to ensure the development of quality housing to meet the needs of the people of Colorado,” said Bruce Rau of Oakwood Homes, the current board chairman for the CAHB. “Scott has helped re-unify the association and solidify the association’s leadership on several issues, including construction-defects reform legislation, oil and gas and land-use policies, and water and environmental issues.”

Smith has been the CEO of the Colorado Association of Home Builders for the past three years. He has more than 30 years of solid experience managing master planned community development in Colorado Springs. Smith was the 1995 president of the CAHB and has served on the Governmental Affairs Committee for several years. He has also been engaged in the Colorado Springs HBA as a past president and has been the chair of the Public Policy Council and Political Action Committee. He served as a Director of the National Association of Home Builders. Smith, a Colorado native, is a graduate of CU Boulder and a Certified Public Accountant.

Smith will continue to hold leadership roles in the CAHB by joining the Board of Directors and participating on the Executive, Governmental Affairs and Political committees.

“Over the past three years, the association has effectively established itself as the leading voice for our industry, our members and, most importantly, homeowners across the state,”
Smith said, "There remains much work to be done on behalf of the association to educate elected officials, policy makers, community leaders and the public about the importance of a strong and diverse housing market and to ensure that our voices are heard as decisions are made that impact the affordability, location and safety of our homes. I am looking forward to remaining a part of this important dialogue."

About the Colorado Association of Home Builders:

Founded in 1974, the Colorado Association of Home Builders is the unified voice of the Colorado Home Building Industry. CAHB is an affiliate of the National Association of Home Builders and has 10 local home builders associations across Colorado. With a statewide membership of nearly 2,000, representing 40,000 jobs, the industry adds $11.5 billion annually to the Colorado economy. The Colorado Association of Home Builders and its members play a crucial role in providing housing for Coloradans.

Colorado liquor stores seek to limit grocery sales of full-strength beer

Denver Business Journal

Colorado grocery stores that are set to begin selling full-strength beer in 2019 under a law passed last year would be limited to selling beverages that are 6 percent alcohol by volume or weaker under a proposal that's been floated by an industry association representing Colorado liquor stores.

Under that proposal, grocers also would have to apply for a new license to offer those beverages.

The idea is one of many being considered by a group of industry and law-enforcement leaders working to implement a bill passed late in the 2016 legislative session that represents the biggest change to alcohol-sales law in Colorado since the end of Prohibition in 1933.

Rep. Dan Thurlow, a Republican, wants to tinker with TABOR next session

Colorado Politics

Rep. Dan Thurlow has a couple of ideas on the Taxpayer's Bill of Rights he wants to present during next year's session of the Colorado Legislature, the Grand Junction Republican told people at a town hall meeting on state tax issues Thursday.

First, Thurlow wants to try again to change how the Legislature calculates how much the state's annual spending plan can grow each year.

Second, he wants to freeze the state's property assessment rate for residential homes at the current 7.1 percent.

Group files to put redistricting reform on Colorado's 2018 ballot in a bid to end gerrymandering
Denver Post

A bipartisan coalition backed by two former governors on Wednesday took the first step toward putting redistricting reform on the 2018 ballot, filing three initiatives that the group hopes will lead to more competitive elections in Colorado.

The three ballot initiatives seek to dilute the influence of the two major political parties in the state's redistricting process by putting more unaffiliated voters on the commissions tasked with drawing the lines for state legislative and congressional districts.

Cory Gardner says tax reform could jump-start infrastructure spending - possibly for I-70 - during Summit County visit
Denver Post

A decade ago, a study commissioned by the Denver Chamber of Commerce found that congestion on Interstate 70 was costing Colorado more than $830 billion in lost economic activity every year.

Since then, things have only gotten worse, particularly in the mountain corridor, where narrow, steep and winding terrain forms a choke point. Highway closures are common here, particularly in the winter, and each hour that cars aren't moving costs about $1 million in stalled commerce. For the people who live here, however, these numbers are just abstractions.

"If you live in Summit County, it's a road you use to go to church or to take your kids to school or to the soccer game - it's like our Main Street," Summit County Commissioner Dan Gibbs said on Friday during a visit by U.S. Sen. Cory Gardner.

Passport Program with Access to Twenty-Two Colorado Ski Resorts Now Open - The 5th and 6th Grade Passports Offer up to 88 Days of Free and Discounted Skiing
Colorado Ski Country

Colorado Ski Country USA (CSCUSA), the trade association and global voice of skiing and snowboarding in Colorado, announced today that registration is open for the 5th and 6th Grade Passport Program and the Colorado Gems Card. The popular Passport Program offers unmatched access to 22 ski resorts across the state by giving fifth graders three days of free skiing or snowboarding at each resort and sixth graders 88 days on the slopes for less than $1.20 per day.

The Colorado Gems Card provides discounted skiing and riding with affordable prices at ten of Colorado's most authentic ski resorts. Echo Mountain, located in Idaho Springs, will join the Passport and Gems programs for the 2017-18 ski season.

"The opening of Colorado Ski Country USA's pass products signals the start of another ski season here in Colorado," said Melanie Mills, President and CEO of Colorado Ski Country USA. "With more participating resorts, the 5th and 6th Grade Passport Program and the Colorado Gems Card provide affordable access to ski resorts all across Colorado."

CSCUSA 5th and 6th Grade Passport Program

The 5th Grade Passport provides fifth graders three days of free skiing at 22 CSCUSA member resorts. The 6th Grade Passport allows sixth graders four days of skiing at the same 22 resorts for $105 if participants register before November 30, 2017. After November 30, 2017, registration for the 6th Grade Passport will be $125 until January 31, 2018. Additionally, CSCUSA's First Class lesson program complements the 5th Grade Passport Program and provides fifth graders who have never skied or snowboarded one free ski or snowboard lesson and equipment rental.

To register for the Passport Program and for more information about First Class Lessons, parents can visit www.ColoradoSki.com/Passport. The CSCUSA Passport Program enjoys the support of presenting sponsor Christy Sports, and program partners Credit Union of Colorado and HEAD Skis.

Participating resorts in the 2017-18 Passport program include: Arapahoe Basin, Aspen Highlands, Aspen Mountain, Buttermilk, Cooper, Copper Mountain, Crested Butte, Echo Mountain, Eldora, Granby Ranch, Howelsen Hill, Hesperus, Loveland, Monarch, Powderhorn, Purgatory, Snowmass, Steamboat, Sunlight, Telluride, Winter Park and Wolf Creek.

Colorado Gems Card

Appropriately named, the Gems resorts are among Colorado's best hidden treasures. With affordable prices, and world-class terrain, the Colorado Gems resorts offer an authentic Colorado skiing and snowboarding experience. For just $25, the Colorado Gems Card provides either two 2-for-1 adult lift tickets or two 30 percent off adult lift tickets at each of the ten Colorado Gems Resorts, providing up to 20 days of discounted skiing or riding at Colorado's hidden gems.

For more information or to purchase a Colorado Gems Card, visit www.ColoradoSki.com/Gems.

Participating resorts in the 2017-18 Gems Card program include: Arapahoe Basin, Cooper, Echo Mountain, Eldora, Granby Ranch, Hesperus, Loveland, Monarch, Powderhorn and Sunlight.

New in Colorado Ski Country for Winter 2017-18

Colorado Ski Country

Colorado Ski Country USA (CSCUSA) member resorts will open for the 2017-18 ski season with new events, offerings, investments and capital improvements to continue providing a world-class skiing and riding experience for in-state, out-of-state and international guests.
“Ski resorts in Colorado ski country are dedicated to continuing to improve the guest experience, adding new facilities large and small and upgrading behind the scenes infrastructure for the 2017-18 winter season,” said Melanie Mills, President and CEO of Colorado Ski Country USA.

Visitors to CSCUSA resorts will experience new chairlifts, new terrain, new lodging and dining options among other improvements across the state. Below is a summary of the many upgrades and events at CSCUSA resorts that guests will enjoy during the 2017-18 ski season.

Arapahoe Basin Ski Area
With one of the only terrain expansions in the country, Arapahoe Basin is adding 468 new acres over two years with the expansion into the Beavers and Steep Gullies. For the 2017-18 season, 371 acres of most difficult and extreme terrain will be open; guests will need to hike back to the Pallavicini chair. In summer 2018, a four-person lift will be installed for the 2018-19 season, and two more intermediate trails will be added in the Beavers.

The rental shop is undergoing a remodel this summer to help guests get out on the slopes quicker during busy days. The resort will also launch a new website in October 2017, free device charging stations and free public wifi throughout the base area and at Black Mountain Lodge at mid-mountain. For more information, visit www.arapahoebasin.com.

Aspen Snowmass
Aspen Snowmass will host Olympic qualifying events when the U.S. Grand Prix stops in Snowmass January 10-January 14, 2018. U.S. Snowboard Team and U.S. Freeski Team athletes will be competing to punch their tickets to February's Pyeongchang Winter Olympic Games.

Snowmass will celebrate its 50th Anniversary all season long including $6.50 lift tickets on December 15, 2017. This was the original price for a lift ticket on opening day in 1967. Celebrations will also include a 50th Anniversary Golden Gala, monthly firework displays and other festive events.

The Breathtaker mountain coaster will open at Snowmass Mountain in December 2017. The mountain coaster will drop guests more than 400 vertical feet on a mile of turning track and be open year-round. For more information, visit www.aspensnowmass.com.

Cooper
Cooper's new mountaintop yurt lodge will be open all season. With delicious food, drinks and a large deck with stunning panoramic views, it's a great spot to stop for a bite to eat. Cooper will also host four Moonlight Mountaintop Yurt Dinners on the first Saturday of each month from January through April 2018.

The resort will celebrate its 75th Anniversary with a birthday party on New Year's Eve with cake, balloons, a torchlight parade & more. For more information, visit www.skicooper.com.

Copper Mountain
Copper Mountain will host Olympic qualifying events December 6-10, 2017 when U.S. athletes compete in the halfpipe and big air events during the U.S. Grand Prix. Visitors can enjoy a new lift and lodge, the Kokomo Express Lift and Koko's Hut. The lift will serve beginner terrain in the West Village, while the lodge will offer seating, casual dining and more, complete with a large outdoor deck and sweeping panoramas of Copper Mountain and Tenmile Range.

Copper will also debut the Rocky Mountain Coaster in fall 2017. With an overall length of 5,800 feet and a vertical drop of 430 feet, the mountain coaster will be a thrilling year-round experience for guests. Throughout the season, visitors will be able to leave their passes in their pockets as Copper is adding RFID technology to eight mountain access lifts.

The Center Village will welcome three new restaurants: Toast & Co., a laid-back space for savory breakfast, brunch or evening libations, Downhill Dukes, where the menu features dog friendly items, and Ten Mile Tavern, an inviting restaurant and taproom featuring rustic modern interior décor, an indoor/outdoor fireplace, walk-up bar and elevated patio space for guests to gather. For more information, visit www.coppercolorado.com.

Crested Butte Mountain Resort
For the 2017-18 season Crested Butte is enhancing the guest experience for beginners by re-grading the teaching terrain and introducing a new adult beginner area. Guests looking for a break from the slopes can enjoy a slice from the new pizza oven at Paradise on Crested Butte.

A new program, CB North Face Guides, will help expert skiers and riders navigate the extreme terrain of the resort including the famed North Face. Crested Butte will host its annual Christmas Eve celebration, an evening complete with a torchlight parade and Santa Claus coming down the mountain in a sleigh pulled by a snowcat. For more information, visit www.skicb.com.

Echo Mountain Resort
New to Colorado Ski Country USA, Echo Mountain will open for the 2017-18 season with improved access to tree skiing areas at the resort. There will be wider trails to accommodate beginner skiers and riders and a new magic carpet in the beginner area to aid with lessons and those just learning how to ski or snowboard. For more information, visit www.echomountainresort.com.

Eldora Mountain Resort
Eldora is introducing the brand-new Alpenglow Express six-person high speed detachable lift. This lift will cut a 15-minute ride down to four minutes, making it easier to ski more vertical each day and helping powder hounds catch early morning turns before heading back to the office. The Indian Peaks Lodge will also have free wifi and a new snowcat will provide a better grooming experience. For more information, visit www.eldora.com.

Granby Ranch
This winter Granby Ranch is expanding its cross-country skiing trails and adding to its programming, including new snow school lessons with Chris Anthony, an international competitor in both alpine racing and big mountain skiing. From more information, visit www.granbyranch.com.

Hesperus Ski Area
Hesperus will install additional lights to increase night skiing terrain for the 2017-18 season. The ski area will re-open the rope tow and install a new yurt, to provide additional indoor space for guests. The rental shop will be expanded and reconfigured for a more customer-friendly experience. For more information, visit www.ski-hesperus.com.
Loveland Ski Area
To celebrate its 80th year of operations, Loveland will offer snowcat skiing in Dry Gulch for the first time this season. Loveland will also continue the popular Mountaintop Matrimony event on Valentine’s Day. For more information, visit www.skiloveland.com.

Monarch Mountain
This winter Monarch will launch a new and improved website and feature improved cellular service at the mountain. For more information, visit www.skimonarch.com.

Powderhorn
Powderhorn’s mountain operations team has been working hard this summer to increase and improve glade skiing acreage at the resort. Powderhorn will also host its annual New Year’s Eve fireworks and torch light parade to welcome in the New Year. For more information, visit www.powderhorn.com.

Purgatory
Brand new for the 2017-18 season, Purgatory Resort will have a mountain coaster, which will be accessible from the base area and operate year-round. The coaster will be 4,000 feet in length with a 300 foot-vertical drop, and will feature eight switchbacks and one loop, giving guests another fun activity snow or shine.

Purgatory is also expanding its terrain with new intermediate and expert trails on the back- and front-sides of the mountain, and will add new gladed tree skiing. The triple chairlift, Needles Lift 6, will offer a new mid-way loading zone to provide an easier way to access terrain for ski teams, terrain park users, and skiers or riders who want to take laps on the frontside of the mountain.

The resort will feature new snowmaking infrastructure including increased pumping capacity and more energy efficient snow guns. For more information, visit www.skipurg.com.

Silverton
Guests at Silverton will be able to celebrate powder days of 50 inches or more with ski area provided snorkels throughout the season. Silverton has also revamped its season pass offerings to include an Unguided Spring Pass with 10 new partner mountains for only $149. For more information, visit www.silvertonmountain.com.

Steamboat
Steamboat has made significant improvements to its gondola for the 2017-18 season, installing new grips, hangers, terminal equipment, electronic controls and other infrastructure to the resort’s main access point. These renovations will provide a faster, smoother and more efficient experience for guests.

The Outlaw Mountain Coaster, which will operate year-round, opened September 8, 2017. The mountain coaster will descend more than 400 vertical feet with a riding length of more than 6,000 linear feet, making it the longest mountain coaster in North America. For more information, visit www.steamboat.com.

Sunlight Mountain Resort
New for the 2017-18 season, Sunlight is building on its popular Ski, Swim, Stay Package by adding two new lodging partners in nearby Carbondale, Colorado.
Sunlight is also holding elections for its Mini-Mayor, adding to its snow grooming equipment and continuing the Slope & Soak 4-pack package. Also returning for the 2017-18 season, Sunlight is relaunching the acclaimed Sunny 700 with new handcrafted Sunny 700 skis made by Meier Skis. For more information, visit www.sunlightmtn.com.

Telluride Ski Resort
Celebrating its 45th Anniversary, Telluride is continuing an ongoing multi-year, multi-million-dollar investment in snowmaking upgrades and technology. In 2017-18 this will include expanding the grooming fleet and investing in a new dual-purpose project that serves as a golf course practice facility in the summer months and a 15-acre terrain-based learning area during the winter ski season.

Telluride will also continue refurbishing the Peaks Hotel, the resort's largest hotel, including upgrades and refinements to the hotel's spa. For more information, visit www.tellurideskiresort.com.

Winter Park Resort
This winter, Winter Park will expand and improve the Winter Park Express, the train service between Denver's Union Station and Winter Park Resort that was reintroduced last year. The addition of three First Friday trips will give guests a total of 27 round-trips to choose from. Prices on select departures have been lowered to $29 one-way, providing additional cost savings for those looking to travel to the slopes by train.

The Winter Park Village will feature a renovated rental shop and a new retail location, reducing wait times on busy rental days. There are two new snowcats to increase grooming efficiency, 4,500 new feet of snowmaking pipe and 15 new snow guns to improve early season snowmaking.

A new trail from the top of the Zephyr Express Lift to the Mary Jane Trail will allow easier access from the Winter Park side of the mountain to the Mary Jane side. For more information, visit www.winterparkresort.com.

Wolf Creek Ski Area
Wolf Creek will open the 2017-18 season with the Lynx Lift, a new covered, conveyor lift that will service beginner terrain, but also help intermediate and advanced skiers access the Elm and Alberta lifts. The Lynx Lift will include an interpretive center featuring the endangered Lynx that has been reintroduced to the area.

The ski area will expand its snow making capacity with new high-efficiency fan guns and add a new snowcat for grooming operations. A new point-of-sale ticketing system will make the ticketing and lesson purchasing process quicker for guests and allow season pass holders to go direct to lift. For more information, visit www.wolfcreekski.com.
